

ON-SITE WORKSHOP for Early Career Researchers on OPEN SCIENCE: Why and How to

JUNE 19, 2024 - 11 AM / 3.30 PM

AULA 12 - FACOLTÀ DI PSICOLOGIA - LA SAPIENZA
VIA DEI MARSI 78, ROMA

PROGRAM

- Carlo Miniussi (University of Trento - ITRN President): Opening Remarks
- Claudia Mazzuca (Sapienza University of Rome): Intro to ITRN and Rome Node
- Michele Scandola (University of Verona): “Not only bad research practices: the illusion of objectivity and researchers' degrees of freedom”: are bad research practices the only reasons for the reproducibility crisis?
- Michela Vezzoli (University of Milan-Bicocca): “Embracing Open Science: Best Practices for Transparent and Collaborative Research”: 'Introduction to Open Science and good research practices (es. preregistration, open data, open code, open publications);
- Sara Garofalo (University of Bologna): “Pre-registration: why and how to”: differences among specific transparency tools, pre-registration, registered reports, PCI-RR, and pre-print;
- Alessandro von Gal (Sapienza University of Rome): “Open resources for Neuroscience research”: demo and overview of accessible tools for behavioral and neuroscientific research (e.g., repositories, protocols, task construction, analyses and data visualization);
- Giulia Calignano (University of Padua): “Improving robustness in Behavioral Neuroscience through the Multiverse × Multi-lab approach”: what are multiverse and multilab approaches and how can they contribute to better frame neurophysiological data;
- Antonio Aquino (Magna Graecia University of Catanzaro): “Italian ECRs mental health”: a multifaceted account of Early Career Researchers anxiety and mental health, insights from an Italian survey.
- Gabriele Fusco & Chiara Fini (Sapienza University of Rome): ITRN Working Groups, Educational and Reprocoffee

Organising Committee: ITRN Rome Node - Gabriele Fusco, Chiara Fini, Claudia Mazzuca, Alessandro von Gal

"BRING YOUR OWN BADGE": PLEASE BRING YOUR FAVOURITE BADGE TO THE EVENT.